

In the Specification

The Examiner requested that the specification be reviewed to determine if any minor errors exist which are grammatical, typographical, or idiomatic. In addition, the Examiner requested that the status of any co-pending applications or cross-referenced applications be reviewed and updated.

The applicants have reviewed the application and have determined that no additional amendments are necessary to the application. The applicants note that significant amendments were made to the application when it was originally filed to correct grammatical, typographical and idiomatic errors in the translation of the application. Further, the applicants assert that there are no modifications necessary to the application based on co-pending or cross-referenced applications.
